

KAROTTEN-FLOCKE

Grain-free meal supplement

Every pet has different needs in terms of protein and carbohydrates and these can be calculated on the basis of their size, body weight, physical activity and breed.

With Anifit Carrot Flakes, you can achieve the right balance to meet the nutritional needs of your beloved pet and provide them with all the nutrients and fibre it requires.

Like with popcorn, the carrots are prepared using a kind of pressure cooker process for a few short seconds to release the starch meaning that the carrots can be easily digested by dogs.

The carrot flakes are gluten-free and are therefore particularly suitable as a "low-impact" food supplement for sensitive pets.

Free from preservatives, flavourings and colourings

Note: Changes to the diet

The digestive systems of animals which have been fed using dried food over a longer period of time and those fed products containing very little meat, need a little time to adjust to the normal (relatively high) proportion of meat in Anifit products. The Anifit Carrot Flakes are well-suited for reducing the high protein content of the Anifit feed during the first weeks of a change in diet.

Feeding recommendation

Serve according to the needs and the weight of the pet. As a guideline, Anifit recommends the addition of a handful of flakes to every meal.

1 tablespoon equals about 9 g.

Preparation

Combine the Carrot Flakes with Anifit fresh meat products. For optimal digestion pour hot water over the flakes and leave to stand for 3-5 minutes before serving.
